Travis Manion

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (CBS) – A Doylestown, Pa. family is taking the extraordinary step of moving their son’s remains to Arlington National Cemetery so he can be buried next to his best friend who was killed last week in a helicopter crash in Afghanistan (see related story).

Travis Manion of Doylestown (above) and Brendan Looney of Maryland were roommates at the US Naval Academy. Three years ago, Manion, 26, was killed in Iraq trying to help members of his Marine unit.

He was buried in West Conshohocken, but his sister, Ryan Manion Borek, says he told her that if anything happened to him, he really wanted to be at Arlington.

She says those plans became more immediate when they got the news about Looney:

“We’re personally just distraught over it and feel so much for the Looney family. And again, we hope that people understand the sacrifices that young men and women are making every day for our country.”

She says Looney took her brother’s death very hard and dedicated his training to become a Navy SEAL to Travis’ memory.

Looney, 29, will be laid to rest at Arlington early next week.

Reported by Brad Segall, KYW Newsradio Suburban Bureau Chief.
